Homeowner Upgrades Since Purchase:

- *New roof layer installed (4 years ago)
- *Half of the windows replaced
- *Porch and staircases remodeled with bluestone (1 year ago)
- *New boiler and water pump installed (2 years ago)
- *New generator installed (3 years ago)
- *New dishwasher, microwave oven, and LG all-in-one washer/dryer (1st floor)

Additional Property Features & Systems:

- Disposal is placed under the kitchen sink on the right side of the panel.
- *The wine cellar is turned on with a tiny knob on the bottom of the front pane door and it makes air blow. That's all there is to it.
- *A tin-cup embraced with a circular stone on the patio is the gas connecting outlet.
- *All rainwater on the roof is drained out through the underground pipe into the municipal irrigation system via gutter and downspout except some overflowing water over gutters.
- *Generator runs once every three weeks automatically, as a self-test. For 7-8 minutes each time power is supplied by the gas generator. Don't be alarmed.
- *Unlike an ordinary house there are two output pumps in our sump pump system. The original one is dedicated to electric sump pump & it discharges water, if activated, thru underground pipe to municipal drain system. The second one is just for a backup battery-powered sump pump and it discharges water on the ground. In the last 4-5 years sump pumps didn't get activated.
- *The alarm system is always on for gas and fire, regardless if you turn the alarm on. Low battery alerts may go off sometimes. I will replace batteries, mostly AA batteries.
